

Product Longevity

At Supermicro, we comprehend the significance of product lifespan and recognize the critical importance of uninterrupted parts supply to you, which is equally vital to us. We are dedicated to extending product longevity for our customers.

Kindly visit the Supermicro eStore to procure the necessary components. Most parts are available for at least five years after the date of sale, but not all replacement parts are available to order using the Supermicro store. If the part you require is unavailable for purchase, or you do not wish to order online, please contact us at Supermicro Support.